About the Program

From the moment your divorce client walks into your office, you will face any number of challenges. Divorce issues are tricky and range from financial to emotional. Knowing where to turn, what to request, and the questions to ask can make or break the case in your favor.

Geared specifically toward attorneys new to the practice of family law, this seminar will instruct you on the issues you may face and provide guidance from initial meeting to final decree.

Join a faculty of experienced family law practitioners as they share pragmatic advice on the issues key to presenting your case. Attend this seminar to:

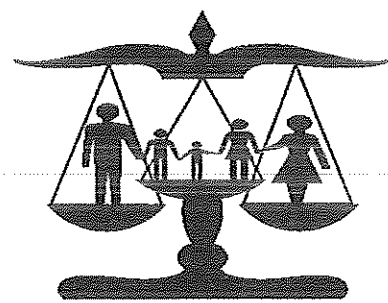

- Learn what questions to ask during the initial meeting with your client
- Gain insight on important procedures to follow
- Learn the forms every family lawyer needs to be aware of
- Determine what your client should request
- Understand more about financial and asset issues

Whether you are just beginning to handle dissolutions or you are a veteran who could benefit from practice pointers, forms, checklists and tips, you won't want to miss this program!
